Angie Thomas serves as Marcum's business development manager in St. Louis. In this role, she oversees mergers and acquisitions transition services for dental practices, MO tax credit program services and new client business. Her primary focus is on the dental industry, where she has more than 20 years of experience.

Angie is passionate about and committed to the dental industry. Her goal is to help new buyers, existing practitioners and individuals looking to retire meet their goals.

She helps organize and lead various educational events for dental schools, study clubs, and peer groups, and also presents continuing education seminars for CE accreditation.

Angie is a leader on the Transition Advisory Services team. Her deep experience is an asset to both buyers and sellers in all aspects of the transaction process. She is able to help client's approach transactions with confidence by providing sound, timely advice and solutions.

Angie is an active co-leader in the Firm's national dental thought leadership group, providing industry insights and always striving to bring new ideas that help clients achieve success.

She joined Marcum in 2021 as the result of a merger with BWTP P.C.
