Expanding Marcum LLP's presence in the Garden State, Saddle Brook's RotenbergMeril Certified Public Accountants has joined the New York-based firm.

With the move, announced Feb. 1, Neal Rotenberg – previously managing partner – becomes Marcum's Saddle Brook office managing partner. The addition brings eight partners and 53 associates to the firm.

“RotenbergMeril is a top New Jersey firm with a strong national presence and an outstanding technical capability. Neal Rotenberg, Lawrence Meril and their team bring significant talent and critical mass to our New Jersey region, where our national real estate practice is based,” Marcum Vice Chairman David Bukzin said in a prepared statement.

“Their capabilities in SEC services, in particular, will be an important additional asset to our Capital Markets group, in support of our continued growth as one of the top-ranked practices in the country,” he added.

Full-service accounting firm RotenbergMeril was founded in 1986, serving national, international and regional clients. According to Marcum, its specialties included providing highly technical and complex tax and audit services to private equity firms and their portfolio companies, hedge funds, financial services organizations, and emerging public companies, as well as diverse commercial clients including professional service firms and renewable energy, manufacturing, commercial real estate and fintech/software development companies.
